

THE OFFICE OF TAKESHI KURODA

ACCESS TO THE WORLD

Developing countries have the same self as the United States.

KURODA International

Takeshi Kuroda

There is a real possibility to make the same reality as America with developing countries. That says to do the same thing.

Understanding is based, and it is given under academics. These are under the consensus of politics based on political decisions and plans.

Ideal and philosophy are the creation of their origins. That is an agreement to build a nation under its decision.

But to be wise from the others, there are academic and theoretical bases in any field. There are differences among with modernize and not by nations.

We find all academic consideration and measure in any realities to see America. Under commonsense that education is standardized and has the highest of self.

Life and society are moving to change under the IoT revolution that we may start from here. The most comfortability is with their style of life. To see their infrastructure is under new investment with society 5.0.

Political analysis and calculation with all information are running the whole world. All their university is with its rich environment and fulfilling contents the others may not reach. That difference comes with a difference in reality. This is proof academics the reality of it.

All progress is from academics and makes it equal to reality.