They take responsibility for the world. That means they have a right to ask about the future.

In the 20th Century, the USA's influence was paramount. It's crucial to recognize that they have not betrayed their aspirations.

In the land of their country, we do have their reality today. But to put our eyes to the world, they should raise any vision of theirs since the world may follow their dreams.

We shared the same ideal in the 20th Century. If they have a dream for the future, we could share their visions with the world.

To expand any realities to the universe, we see new hopes. And who has a right to hand them in their hands?

Stepping forward is only from courage. That is all their attitude, as we all know.

I send all world visions to the world, and I am asking from their nation. They may have a plan for the world.

All these are with their hobby, which is ideal and dreams. That is their way of making a load for the future.

If the USA asks for a world revolution, the world must listen to their voices. We are right in front of the new future, all our new steps into the universe.

We need the world's visions. If the USA gives us the vision, we can follow and share the same visions and the future.

We could gather under the same ideals. To yell voices to the world, the world must listen to what they say.
