

Each national finance and economy

KURODA International

Takeshi Kuroda

Under Covid-19 that national finance makes worth to step coming futures. The economy must follow them to make him survive.

The tragedy is that no one can not away from those.

To be wise that where we can find huge capitals. They could stay alive.

And technology has its use for the future.

We find that the king stands with the king's nation.

They must have victory against coming futures. Then we can see all its glories.

On the other hand, we can see all losers.

This must be a game we will see with the reality of the future.

If now is all its bases waiting for tomorrow? How may you find hope?