

Economic meltdown

March 30th, 2024

Kuroda International Consulting

Takeshi Kuroda

Windows 10, Android, iOS, and MAC OS are watching you all. We need economic security.

All market and national finance may collapse and lose themselves in the future, and we have to forecast how, after all these meltdowns, the world seeks itself to be.

I mean, there must be new economic situations. The trading environment and any production must face all the changes in the coming future. A highly progressed industry may seek its future.

All these are based on the new reality of the world. However, as in all economic reality, the lifeline still needs to be in the future.

If we are trying to be wise, we need economic security. We have to cover any field of industry for national security.

Politics must make plans to run a nation. All these require to be wise to ask for any decisions.

New realities are with new currency rates. And it must make a new world trade reality.

With all enterprises, global enterprises with their plans must face new realities.

So far, so good, that you must say, but above all confusion, the wars must be planned.

I am talking about the economy. That is what I want you to know. We must make the proper decisions to make the national economy healthy, as we need our lifelines.

As I could insist, we have to make the 3rd group in the world. To take a full distance with all these conflicts and ask for our own economic security.

We need to prepare for the future. That is the proper decision of the politics.

