

Economy and the Future

April 5th, 2025

KURODA International Consulting LLC

Takeshi Kuroda

We may calculate the effect of President Trump's tariff policy under any national financial condition and find any changes in economic reality in the future.

Starting from any changes in the economy, the world must seek a new stage of the future. This may not be limited by the new world order but by any concern with the universe.

The economy only serves people's livelihoods, which are the lifeline of any nation. So, from all these points of view, we find all the infractions and changes in the currency rates.

We may know that these are the reconstruction of all economies, and new tariff policy must affect them and ask for any settlement of economic realities.

Under all these points of view, we may find these are all necessities of politics which they must make righteous actions against any reality of the world.

These are the only permissions anyone can gain for proper national administration. With any reality we have today, politics can't be a toy game but asking for all responsibility for any reality as the world.

All these are only permitted under complete analysis and calculation for any reality in which we need our political actions.

All politicians must find them for all people. And this is the only way we can see the future.

If all these changes ask for conflicts or wars, we may find an all-new future reality under any changes we have today. Even under all these realities, politicians must ask them for their duty to the world/ And it is the only permission for us to find the future.