

Emergency special session of the United Nations General Assembly

December 20th, 2023

Kuroda International Consulting

Takeshi Kuroda

Under any circumstances, we have the world asking for an emergency special session of the United Nations General Assembly to make any decisions for the world.

We aim to unify the world and try to build a unified government. These are under the vote of the majority to decide the world.

An agreement on the abolition of war and a transition to unified management of the world proposes a new world framework. These proposals offer a transformation into reality after being adopted by a majority vote.

All these require an explanation of new participation in the universe, as we see we have a new relationship with them in reality.

These are the new world we are offering. And we are trying to take all votes to realize them worldwide.

And we could agree recreation of the world as a new society with all new technologies. We have to agree on equal social conditions and educational environments from any region of the world.

We have a choice that may give us a new world. And we are trying to cooperate with other nations with the same future.

How could we find all consensus on these realities? Could we offer them to the world?

The unified government may propose to us the future. And we are trying to make all its decisions.