

Establishment of a new world and key bilateral agreements

KURODA International Consulting

Takeshi Kuroda

With an East and West who lead in the past, finally reach a complete agreement with the world and share the future.

All this bilateral alliance may make a new world. All these are gathering nations with the same vision and ideas.

Under any argument, we must reach the same vision of the world that is a world we share in the future.

These are the decisions of bilateral alliances. And all this vision must expand itself to ask for all participation of any nation.

These things are made possible by having the consent and participation of all beings in the universe.

As we know, there is all reality and the world's truth. But we are trying to propose new world visions.

Bilateral alliance may be all bases to ask for any reality and the future. We must build all reality as we try to make all steps into the universe.

How could we wonder about any cooperation from any nations of the world? Do we have a possibility to stand against the world?

If we have an opportunity, we must work for the future.

There must be a hope we have to follow. The act gives us the door to the future.
