

Even a tear that the world tries to ignore, but sharing decision for it

We see all the tears on TV in the Gaza Strip and Ukraine. How could we ask for a decision and share any realities?

All suffering and sorrow may not be found in the future, so we are trying to make a new decision.

How could we find hope in the world? We have more than any number of tears.

And I could insist all politics may ask for its responsibility for the realities, and then they are permitted to make their future.

Who could ask all the responsibility for all children in the Gaza Strip and Ukraine? That is all the reason we are seeking honest politicians.

What is a consensus against all reality by International Society? They could decide, save them all, and build a new world. That is what I call responsibility.

If we could share all decisions against all these tragedies, we could change the world.

And who could give the future to all their children? As we find, we need to share all these responsibilities for the realities.

We may not need any tears in the future. This is a proper consensus for us to seek for a new world.

Instead of all tears, we could offer dreams and ideals. All children must have proper dreams for us to seek a new world.

Politics may realize them, so we are yelling to politicians with a new world under all our dreams.
