

Final moment and do us make our actions

December 14th, 2024

KURODA International Consulting LLC

Takeshi Kuroda

The world is facing the future, but we have to be through the final moment of the world.

The world is under choice, equal to finding the future itself. We can make the future under the choice of itself.

If we can try to cover the world, we are forced to create all our realities, as we may expand any reality we gather.

We need our world visions to gather all nations, which would give us complete agreement from all countries and permit us to seek the future.

All new cooperation may create a new reality in the world, one free of conflict shared peace, and the creation of a new world through the use of new technologies.

Gathering the world with the same visions may be possible if we ask any declaration to the world.

Sharing the same world and future may be sharing new possibilities and opportunities in the future.

The choice is all future, in which we create the world itself; how do we choose the world? And may dreams and ideals be an allusion with the world?

We can see all our reality with the world, but we have our choices to make any reality with it.

If we follow any reality of the world according to any plans or designs, we only ask to belong with reality.

But these are the suggestions for us to have our world visions to recreate any reality in the future.