

For all responsibility of politics to any peoples

April 19th, 2024

Kuroda International Consulting

Takeshi Kuroda

These are the consensus views of politics for a world without suffering and sorrows. Politics must dare to take all responsibility to ensure equal livelihood for all people.

We have all new technology to reestablish the world. Society and livelihood could be changed and have all its progress of any realities.

We can also have new world systems and frameworks to seek in the future.

If we all cooperate, we have a promise of a new world and new futures. All these new possibilities are lying right in front of us.

From any history, we now reach the future. This is true as we have all new technology and new steps into space.

And we are forced to make a choice for the world. These are the reality of any politics.

And we see a dream may not be an illusion but the future that could be promised.

All these are the possibilities that the new future contains. And we need our actions to realize them all.

And politics may only have permission to make all reality with a world. All these are only possible under any political consensus and action.

All these consensus must be for all sharing responsibility for all people.

We can recreate the world under any consensus or all-new agreement that is all from each volunteer to share the future. These are the agreements and new cooperation of international society. We have an idea that our office asks for any conversation with the world.