

From the point of view of the free economic system, consider GAFAM and the magnificent 7

January 16th, 2025

KURODA International Consulting LLC

Takeshi Kuroda

These are the creations of a free economic system, new technology, and the world's new reality. We need to understand all these realities correctly.

It is proof that a free economic system gives motivation and creativity.

Creating this reality in liberalism means having a highly progressive ideological background.

These liberal realities must understand that freedom, responsibility, and ethical judgment build it all. These Western roots are justice in today's world.

These provide for the formation and nurturing of a reality based on neglect and choice, which makes them just and progressive, in contrast to the reality of coercion.

All these ideas and understandings may help us recreate our reality for the future. When authoritarianism removes freedom, it removes society's motivation. This is why money and power are being given to China. But it may not be only the people's demand.

The above enterprise proves the creation of all possibilities in economies.

And we see that all these enterprises lead any reality of the world today. These are necessary for understanding new economies.

We get the right question: where does all this originality and creativity come from?

These are questions about the correct motivation to do something and what makes others question whether motivation is economic competition.

Proper motivation is the foundation of an exemplary society where the worship of money is rejected.