This is why all politicians take responsibility for people to gain them in the future. And this is all agreement of the word to reach him in the future.

We have tried all our efforts to help the world, but these are the missions of all politics, and they permit all new agreements to recreate the world and reach the future.

Politics must take full responsibility for all people, not for a part of them.

These are not just missions but urgent global missions requiring immediate attention and action to unify the world.

We find all children of the Gaza Strip, and we are willing to take all responsibility for them.

It is the mission of politics to shape the future, to create a world where new dreams can be found. This is the responsibility we must all embrace.

We have all changes today with the world, but all these changes are the steps to renew the world for new futures.

All politics may rim its hand under all these consensuses and give the new world.

We can redesign the world to adjust to new civilizations with all the latest technologies.

As we said, we need a real politician. Then let me explain it. Who dares to take full responsibility for the world and the future?

All people ask and dare themselves in the future. As we said, hope is all common we seek. And real politician is who gives us hope.

If we may reach the future since we have been given him. And he is a real king. We are gifted.
