We may propose our world visions to seek a new future by ending all conflict and requesting world unification.

It's imperative to reconsider our world systems. While capitalism and liberalism have served us well, a new technological civilization demands a fresh perspective and a significant shift in our global structures.

Competition, while driving progress, should not come at the cost of our social values.

The world with conflict must be shifted to a world with new unification under new proposals to make new consensus in International Society.

So, we have proposed a new world vision under the new world system. We must know these are the new reality all politics must agree with and share its agreement.

We find all conflicts and wars in this planet's history. But we can reconsider the world permitted under new consensus and agreements.

We have remarks about our choices and decisions, which must create the world and future.

And we may know that all these are the possibility of all politics. And we can find new world systems and frameworks. We have all calculations under all progress of all academics,

If the world rims its hands and cooperates to recreate the world, what should be the difference in the future?

All new possibilities lie down tight in front of us all. We are trying to make our possibilities known to the universe. We can reconstruct the world under a new vision and agreement. These are the realizations of their potential.
