

Hate only breeds hate. It needs a solution.

Kuroda International Consulting

Takeshi Kuroda

Suppose the world is filled up with hatred. We have to know that love is the only solution.

There is all conflict in the world. They are only seeking hatred. That is the truth.

We need to reach the correct understanding of our progress. Hatred is any bases of problems in the world. And Love is the only answer.

There are all logic and justice, but they may not be even better than love.

So love must be an agreement of the world but hatred.

Under the measure of love and hatred, what can we see in the world? And we could see all details and may ask for the future.

Paradise may be only from love. But we are not trying to blame all hatred. They may have all their reasons.

How could we expect the world if the world has this consensus? We have all hopes equally for the world and the future. Love could be all bases if we find the future.

Hatred is solved under love. This is a step we may step into the world.

We find that hatred is all tails of any problems. But love is all solution for them. The conflict has its bottom of hatred if unification exists. Love is a proper agreement of its tails.

The new world goes under changes. To face all reality in the world. We find new access to all realities as we find all new differences in the future.