What can we see in the future? But what we do is the future we may find into.

All these are necessary to understand politics since they decide realities correctly.

We may dream of the future, and it could manifest in our actions since what we do is the future we find.

We may find that politics is a king who makes decisions about the world.

Hope must be reached by stepping into and forwarding it. That means we need new steps for ourselves.

The possibility must be realized under new actions to make things new.

This must be the right attitude for us to make the future.

Reality must be changed under new actions. This must be the way to make things for all politics.

If the world is hopeless, only we should make all new hopes.

And if there is no possibility in the future. Do make things with you to realize them.

If no one does that, do yourself with a world.

This is a way to make the world new. Then you may find out who started it.

You may remain what I said. We need real politicians.

That is who makes the future with hope.
