

If the nation fails its politics, who has a responsibility for it?

October 26th 2024

Kuroda International Consulting LLC

Takeshi Kuroda

To serve livelihood to peoples and righteous teaching to its growth of children and society, these are any conditions to run a nation under politics.

These are all tails of run own nation. And any progress and expansion of reality follow them.

Riotousness is a condition for running a nation in the correct reality. These are all severe matters when judging the nation's reality.

These are testaments to the highest ethical standards in politics, and politicians should act as role models for their people.

Under any of the abovementioned opposition, the nation may collapse due to political failure.

Only then may we find all the expansion of the possibility of eras with a world we can see.

These are any consensus of any politics who may be permitted to act with ears and lead the world itself.

He is a real politician, and the world may follow him. A right self gives a proper world, and a bad self provides a wrong world.

These are efforts as we are trying to make a new world.

We know that politics is responsible for people and the world. These are all duties of all politics, and we are trying to be in touch with the world.

You may have your decision for the world, which will be realized in the future. We, Kuroda International Consulting LLC, are pleased to support any effort of your work.