

If we ask for a base of unification of the Asian region

KURODA International Consulting

Takeshi Kuroda

The world is trying to make itself with a new. The world is seeking a new world.

Suppose Asia makes its unification and shows the world its new visions. What could be the difference we can find in the future?

And all changes must occur in the future, and then we are trying to hold its bases to participate.

We need an idea for the world as holding philosophy to create the future.

Construction by all these realities, we might face the Anglo-Saxon mission. But we need at least the same fundamentals and powers to meet equally with the world. These are the demands of new social construction and new national realities planning in internal affairs.

Expanding with our reality to the space may cause new cooperation in the region.

We may name all these alliances by Asian Union.

The development of industries within the self-owned capital will realize the development of all cutting-edge industries in the region.

We are trying to shift any realities in next-generation standards. The likelihood of people must be changed under all decisions.

We must know that all these are not dreams but the only decision we have handling to any realities in the future.

East of its roots may yell difference to the world. And we have a full right to ask for ourselves in our own realities. And we hold ideals to face the world as we ask for equal conversation to the roots of the West.