Adults are expected to take responsibility for raising children properly and passing the world on to them.

We may wonder about the world from a song of imagine as its lyrics.

We are trying to pay all responsibility for all children with their dreams.

An agreement for a world without suffering is an agreement for a shared world and future.

Not with competition, but the new rule of symbiosis offers new possibilities for the future.

If any agreement by the abandonment of wars, we share all its agreement and may seek a world.

For the eyes of all children, we find a world and the future.

Conflict and competition give us all reality we have today. But new cooperation seeks out of those, and we are trying to share the new world that is a new possibility we must try.

All new technology and progress in academics must be gathered. We are making all reality under political consensus as all those give us a new possibility in the world and expand its participation in the universe.

We are forced only by the new decision. Due to it gives us a new world.

These differences are between war and peace that we may find in Ukraine as we could decide for the future.
