While Russia has yet to end its invasion of Ukraine after several years, the effectiveness of US and Israeli attacks is a reality that must be observed as the standard in the future of the war for the foreseeable future.

This perspective provides a timely assessment of all military forces around the world.

The cutting edge of these military capabilities and strategies proves that outdated weapons are useless in war, and it should be understood that this truth is an unavoidable reality as China's military power confronts the world.

Under different points of view, we may recalibrate the world power balance. Economic power may follow all these realities, such as the amount of capital.

The reality of changing times must be clearly understood in these matters. These are clearly a complete defeat for Russia.

All nations must find their ideas on how to face the coming future. And these are all new visions that all nations must ask their national security.

What we saw in Iran is all true, and these are the realities that may deeply concern the future.

Under those ideas, we may rebuild all national security and diplomacy. Our ideal is to be in touch with all new realities that we may ask ourselves as consulting firms.

Our idea is that we have to reconstruct those realities under new standards and measures, and domestic capitals and industries must base them all.

All new designs of the nation must ask for new plans. And the next society is not an illusion, they may ask for new national systems and any basis with its reality of self.
