

Liberalism

Kuroda International Consulting

Takeshi Kuroda

If liberalism is what gives man the allowance of animal ecosystems, neo-socialism proposes the creation of civilization in new philosophies and intellects.

Liberalism is a reality in animal ecosystems that tolerates human instincts and reflects the reality of freedom. However, since they form the same hierarchy as ecosystems from the top to the bottom, they cannot provide relief to the socially vulnerable.

Therefore, the social system of basic livelihood security and basic income in new socialism can be considered the foundation of a new technological civilization in its progressiveness and sophistication.

Human evolution has indeed realized the creation of intelligence apart from animal nature, and the limitations of those animal natures have difficulties in new technological civilizations.

The competition principle is precisely the same as that of animals competing for survival. Civilization and progress can propose new social systems.

It is possible to realize the future based on the philosophical and social nature of intellect, not on animal instincts, as humankind advances in intelligence and seeks a new civilization.

New technology promises a new future. And there is all further contact with the universe. Then we are given by new choice that proposes us a new future.

From the reality of beasthood, if they represent progress, they remind us of the difference between the numbers of the beasts recorded in the Book of Revelation and the millennium promised by the Bible.

Intelligence makes everything possible. it has victory.