

National security

KURODA International Consulting

Takeshi Kuroda

Military and industry, space technology, national infrastructures, livelihood, education, academics, and political environment are all cores of reality that permit one to participate in the world.

As we see china siege, Building military and economic security requires the development of industry in any field and producing military materials in domestic industries.

All these realities are given under political consensus. When we make a plan, it comes to be a reality.

To be in touch with all reality today, Industrial matter and their security give more than any presence in the world. Economic security in advanced industries makes it possible to dominate the world.

The demand in the economy demands the development of domestic industry in all industries in its security. Only then may we ask for foreign affairs to make any cooperation. That means the free trade system gives complete occupation for advanced industry.

We must understand that globalization has created an economic hierarchy. This is the structure of control in wealth.

All above shows us that national independence is the only priority that we have to work for. Then we are permitted foreign affairs to cooperate with the world.

Independence and equality are only permitted under the same environment in the reality of power politics.

We have a decision if we have to ask for the future. That means there must be all occurring under planed of the world.