

National theory

KURODA International

Takeshi Kuroda

Nation gives everything to its people. They are asking to make all decisions for their people. That is all necessary for politics to ask country.

It means politics has its responsibility to all reality of self. Building social infrastructure and the environment may create lives.

Uncivilized may not ask academics, but academics have all possibility to construct society as a nation.

Education is a reality to give growth to beings. As former described, politics could make a decision.

Expand consciousness are under only with education. That is a reality of a nation and future.

To know the world is a recreation of self reality. Society is all bases to build lives.

As he progressed now ages, all technology has given him tools to build a new self.

This is proof that we have to read all books from western history.