

New economic wars based on own economic security

May 15th, 2024

Kuroda International Consulting

Takeshi Kuroda

The economy, a global entity, has the power to shape our future. This global perspective underscores the importance of economic security, a goal that the world must collectively strive for with purpose and determination.

We must also find that there are economic wars under any market occupation. Then, we must know that we must create our own economic group to serve the progress of a nation's livelihood.

All progressed technologies are part of the creation of an economy. We have a rule of the free economic system, which makes it possible to inhabit any reality. These may be the only base to produce weapons and space equipment.

This means domestic economic policy only expands any possibility in the future. And we are facing any economic security in the world.

And as we find any reality of the world, capitalism permits all possession of the economy.

If a nation has economic power, it allows it to form its own group. All production may benefit society and life, even creating an army or space technologies.

To see the USA, a Free economic system is the engine for creating the future. And their presence is reflected in their free economic activities.

We may find all the truth of the liberal camp. Liberalism is the justice that we can find.

Any power game, such as power politics, may be based on all these realities, such as the economy.

We have a choice in how we make our nation. And it makes the future.