

New economy

KURODA International Consulting

Takeshi Kuroda

A new economy seeks a profit. We find all this inflation today in the market. There is a new world right in front of us all.

How should life constructed under these realities? There are all chosen ones who are permitted to put themselves into a new future.

And we see a new world based on all chosen realities in any field of society and the world. The economic and money system should be renewed to adjust all these realities.

All these circumstances require new cost standards. That must be a new law in the world economy. There is a new economic system that must cover the world.

We see that new technology has a new reality in all industries. They have a decision of the world that we have to know.

Under all these new realities, we could seek our economic system to face all new realities. As we see, new socialism should serve all peoples with all morals of economy.

These could have a reconstruction of our economy with our systems. We could build our economic, money, and trade systems worldwide.

We are not trying to be occupied under any capital. We need the health of our economy.

Capitalism reaches all occupations of the world that we have to know. That means we could have a philosophy for reconstructing a new economy.

How could we gather the world then? We have a challenge to make our world.

The economy is the basis of the world. That means who takes them is who takes the world.