If politics serve all peoples, we may change the world.

Amidst all social problems, even those entangled in world politics, the future beckons us to find solutions. We stand on the brink of a new technological civilization, ready to take bold steps into the uncharted realms of space.

We can leave any conflict and agree to abandon all wars. We could share the same vision of a pain-free and suffering-less world.

All progress of any academics may recreate the world.

New technology and systems cause us to shift any realities to a new world.

The New World could be based on any agreement of any nation. As we can see, the basis of the agreement may not cause any conflict or confusion.

And we can share the same future with all nations of the world.

And through our declaration to participate fully in the space, we find all new collaborations with them and possibly seek a new reality for the future.

We have finally reached the future from any dark night in history.

We can't ask for any tragedy in the future, meaning we must make all new decisions.

We have evolutionary changes today in any field of the world. That is, we are birthing the future to make the world anew.

Who could determine self in politics to give us the future? That is all daring of our being to make a new dream in the future.
