The world has conflict, but we can create new possibilities. Diplomacy is a way to create new realities.

NATO has justice and power. It is a top presence in the world that we can't ignore.

There is a new power balance, military, economic, and world map. How many groups can we find in the world? These are the realities we have with the world.

Liberalism and humanism are all the justice we can find today. Capitalism and the free economic system are laws we have in the world.

Today, we can find new civilizations using new technology and systems. These are based on new capital-governed economies, as seen in the World Financial Group.

These technological changes have led to new progress in the military. These realities change the world as we experience new globalization.

All nations are under its power games, with which they must make all their realities. But if we seek a new world design, we could propose a new world with new systems.

The survival and competition principles are all hobbies of animals. But human beings have the wisdom to conquer the world.

Then, we may find that if we conquer the past as the above hobbit, we may reach a new civilization.

They serve us a new philosophy, which may create a new world. New world design unifies all realities as we try to make new steps into space.

A new world needs new rules and laws, which may contradict our current reality.
