

New world rules of symbiosis and mutual benefit

KURODA International Consulting

Takeshi Kuroda

With a new world, we find a new rule. Power games and politics are all reality we have today.

New rule with the mutual benefit we could try to share the world. There are waiting future we have with all changes we have today.

There is a superpower under all reality with a political decision, but all nations could seek both benefits under the new consensus.

All these could be a new consensus by international society. This gives all new opportunities for all nations with a new future.

As we could try to build a new world framework. Further cooperation and unification could be a new reality we are trying.

Do we find all respect in international politics in reality? This must be all reason we are trying a new world.

We have a history, and we are facing a new future. Due to we have all new technology that is seeking a new world.

Even as we try to put our steps into space, there are new relationships with space as further cooperation seeks new futures.

These are the proof that we face a new reality called the unknown future. In ancient, we didn't have any technology but today.

All decisions are forced to face all truth of the world. This must be the correct argument that we need a new framework for the world.

These are the proposal to create a new world with new rules. Its volunteer of self may give a world by all representatives from all nations, only with a reality that we are equally facing.