

Our proposal for the new future

December 11th,2023

Kuroda International Consulting

Takeshi Kuroda

Our office tries to create a new future, as you see in all our descriptions. We are offering the future to you.

New technology offers us a new future. And we need proper bases and fundamentals of society and the nation to build a future.

All use, efficiency, and comfortability show us new life and society. This is the society with computer control.

As we see, all these are created under any industry. That means politics must design their industry to recreate the nation.

The new social system must require the foundation of academics, socialism, and philosophy. All these allow us to build a contemporary society and nation.

We could share the truth that the future is only determined by politics. That means we could design the future in any way. Since the future is always unknown but with all decisions and choices.

How could we imagine the future under all use of new technologies? And who gives us a choice of the reality?

Regarding political proposals, it is possible to entrust the design of a priestly future and nation to bureaucrats. The design of a new nation with full power is to ask young people for their aspirations and dreams.

We would insist any academics are based on what we may find in the future and any reality. These are the ideas we may seek for the future.