

Politics

KURODA International

Takeshi Kuroda

Politics only need to be honest with the people and the world. That causes any reality then.

Politics must be constructed himself with all academics. These must cover any field of the nation and ask himself with futures.

Politicians require themselves with a deeply progressed own learnings, due to these same cause reality as own understandings.

That is why all talent must cooperate, and all these skills create a nation and the future.

A detailed national plan is a promise of the future. Anything that is possible but deeply considered is a better future that we can try. We may not ask about any limitations but possibilities.

Representatives make decisions, and bureaucracy gives plans.

Politics capture all information that is only we could work for, and any system and organizations circulate all data.

And own independence is only permitted to run himself with a world.

The dream must be a lie but realistic to have himself with a world that could build a plan.

Who is a real politician? That who does not lie and talk truth.
