

Power and wealth

February 20th, 2024

KURODA International Consulting

Takeshi Kuroda

Power and wealth are the purposes and aims that the world follows. New progress is the same as all those realities that we follow.

These are the power games that occupy any reality of the world. And we find that power is a decision.

As we see, competition is a law we share with the world. And it contains all reality we can not be away from them.

We must find their presence with power on the tails of justice of the western camp. These are double standards we have to face.

To be wise, we must fully build ourselves under independence. And to face an equal to the world requires ourselves in humanism.

These are the attitudes we need ourselves in the world.

But philosophy causes and stands against them. They are trying to make paradise.

All academic progress must face all these realities and must answer the world.

And many fail in all these games. But they need themselves in their lives.

These are the bases we all admire as top trends. And conscience may serve them to all poor.

But unless we are trying to be enslaved, we must ask for its independence to stand equally to the world and must make the future.

We need our world under all our efforts. That is a light and hope we possess and gain in the future.

