

President Trump's tariff policy

January 4th, 2025

KURODA International Consulting LLC

Takeshi Kuroda

Under his new tariff policy, the world economy and the rules of the free trade system must have collapsed, and a new reality must have swept the world.

These are the changes in the world economy. We must understand that a new reality of nationalism is sweeping the world.

Any economy has progressed, and the USA has the most substantial presence in those realities.

These predictions predict that the Western camp will unite and demand a new world.

We may wonder if there is a new reality under his latest actions. The world may be changed under new realities.

These offer the possibility of domestic economic self-sufficiency and independent economic security that is not dependent on trade.

Our economic group may stand against all these new realities and cause new conflicts under their actions.

We may propose new world visions without conflict, but it's Cooperation and Harmony.

These may be forecasts of new world maps. Under all these groupings of reality, we need to create all our groups and realities.

Economic cooperation should be geared toward military collaboration, and it will bring new diplomacy to the world.

What can we find in the world if we can recalculate under its justice? We dare to take on new responsibilities for the world, and it may give us new realities.