Survival is a definition of any reality from any past to a moment. The economy gives itself the same difference as any business reality. We can find that free economic rules may be the world's law with capitalism.

A new future is one in which abundance can bring about a new shared reality.

The purpose of life may be the law in the future. Reconstruction of social systems may permit a new reality with its abundance.

These shifts may be the shift of any reality from its existing to a new future. Politics must reach a consensus to recreate all realities without using academics, and a new philosophy must be needed to explain all realities.

Pursuing one's purpose on the world stage means stepping out of the rat race, which is always the right choice.

We may imagine what comes difference with different consensus of the world. And any righteousness is all common, and we can share the world.

And we have all new technology and systems that may cover all these new realities; we have new world designs.

These are the recreation of society and new reality as we find the next society with the new reality of society and the nations.

But we have to know to make all these things, we need political consensus of itself to recreate any reality of the nations.

We can do a new world. This is a word from us to you. We can create a new world with new dreams.
