The world asks for a new future that causes us to step into the world. Diplomacy is a key to making a new reality of the self.

Humanism is any condition that requires an equal relationship to the world since the Western camp holds them in their reality.

The world is in a state of flux, presenting us with challenges and opportunities. This means that we, as global policymakers and diplomats, have the power to steer its changes.

Consensus and agreement may create new realities for the nation regarding international society and diplomacy.

We have all-new designs for society as a result of the economy's progress. This means domestic political action may have a future under any plans or decisions.

The world must be divided under all attitudes to Gaza and Ukraine. The world has a double standard.

So, new diplomacy and its actions are a proper step into the world to make it a reality. We dare to take our steps into the International Society to share all our new hopes for the future.

Under any national security, the world asks for new conflicts and separations. Then, we may put ourselves into all these realities with new world vision and diplomacy.

These are recreations of the world under a new world vision. They are not any occupations, but they share the same visions.

The new cooperation is away from conflict but based on all arguments and sharing, trying to share the same future.
