We have a new consensus that involves sharing all responsibility among all people, regardless of their duty of conscience.

These are how we can recreate the nation under the shift to the next society. Under all new consensus, we find new systems which may entail new futures.

To solve all social problems, politics must lead the way and provide the whole people with a new life and society.

We can see that all these are new social systems that incorporate the latest emerging technologies and systems.

We have a new consensus which asks all politicians to fulfill a new duty to all people to gain an equal life environment under any system of the nation.

We have witnessed all the evolutionary changes in society today, but on the other hand, politics can create a new consensus from them to shape new realities.

And all these ideas may expand to the whole world and share any agreement that may permit the new world itself.

All these are sharing the new consciousness, which is a promise to all people for their futures.

And all these are only permitted to realize under all world politics. We have a new proposal to submit to any international society.

We find that these are the attitude of all politics, they may successfully make their world and duties.

And it could be the cooperation of the world itself.
