

Relief measures for vulnerable groups

Kuroda International

Takeshi Kuroda

Human rights, judgments in the rule of law require equal opportunities, participation in society, and construction of life in legality, and provide social participation in vulnerable groups in new social systems.

These agree on equal social participation among all people and realize the creation of a new society. These provide participation in a new world in changing of times, and their lack of ability that politics may provide social learning opportunities in local government.

These propose the creation of a new social system and capitalism that are not possession of wealth or monopoly, and agree to create an equal world.

These are the consensus in politics that agrees on social participation and life building for all people, and we think that a new social building can be realized with the changing times.

These propose a new world without suffering in new academic progress in the progress of the times, and the reconciliation of the world seeks its unification and proposes to agree on a shared future in the world.