

Responsibility and the world

December 11th, 2025

KURODA International Consulting LLC

Takeshi Kuroda

How does the world keep itself? These are the result of sharing responsibility. The new trend of unilateralism is the cause of chaos in the world.

Under a new dialogue, we may propose to share the responsibility for the world and the future. And these are the consensuses that we may share in the new world.

We may have our decision to recreate the world. And we have all the new technology and systems, which may permit us to make all things new.

To share the world, we need to reach a mutual profit and benefit. And these are any visions of the future.

The world may lose its control. We are losing our conscience. This is why. At this point, we must find that humanity has any commonality with any races and nationalities.

All fundamental of the world is responsibility, but not with any right. Then we are ready to build the future itself.

We need to redesign the world with new systems. These are the result of the progress of human philosophy.

The new world system may be based on a new consensus, and it comes from all new dialogues. These are how we are seeking a new future.

The show must go on. This must be our decision. And it is a decision of ours.

Any possibility lying right in front of us all requires new decisions. And it is only possible in world politics.