

Right-wing trend

June 11th, 2024

KURODA International Consulting

Takeshi Kuroda

In any region, we find a new right-wing in all politics. These are the changes of any world reality, and we still have a future.

We must find all these realities and seek new conflict. Even any reality we have today must change in the future.

All these realities are equally what we can find in any region. So we have to stay calm to make proper decisions.

All these are proper ideas for any politics, and we can not ask for any conflict but peace.

All these right-wing trends must change the world. So we need to prepare for them.

There must be a new world map they could make under all these circumstances. Diplomacy is the right decision to ask for our realities.

To face all this reality, we need to be wise and to have a conscience. This must be the right decision for all politics.

In this sense, the sources of instability lie in the Middle East and the Far East.

Then diplomacy is a complete necessity of reality if we seek for the future. All these ideas may reach all our descriptions. We insist on a new world from our office to you.

The unification of Asia could base them, and any conference in the Far East could ask for any benefit. Even if the world asks for economic security, we have the right choice.

We need our new steps, which must create new realities. Even if the world asks for the future, we have the right decision.