

Shaping the world in Environmental consensus

Kuroda International Consulting

Takeshi Kuroda

Recent temperature increases will inevitably give rise to further increases in the future. Therefore, all nations can agree on zero emissions and implement new environmental standards in all industries and lives.

All these are promises with responsibility for the world as we may try to seek any ideals with a world that we insist by all descriptions of ours.

These are always agreements in common sense and good conscience, and their confrontation with all criminal gangs is a demand for the restoration of the world's sanity in self-group formation.

These are the whole necessity of the world, and we may stand against all criminal matters with justice.

As we find that we need a future. So we may not act wrong.

They want to establish justice in all disclosures and possess the whole world.

All criminal events should be crucified together with the revolution.

On the other hand, it raises revolutionary wars and clearly realizes ownership of the world.

Any disclosure of the truth and the establishment of justice gives a crusade.

These are the consequences we demand in war; all fugitives should be banished forever.