

Standardization and globalization

November 24th, 2023

Kuroda International Consulting

Takeshi Kuroda

We find the unification of all realities under the same standard. All youth participants ask for the same rules in the world. All these are the movements that are common in international communications.

All youth ask for their step with the same rules. And they are seeking for the future.

These are all common we find in international society. These are the reality of the West,

These could give us an idea that could base the unification of the world.

There are international rules that all youth ask for their futures, and all businesses ask themselves into.

As we find, the unification of reality is the standardization of life. We have the same trend of life in any region of the world.

Which we admire is under unified reality. GAFAM is the core competence of the world.

All youth seek under the same poles of reality, asking for all their dreams.

These are the realities under the unification of ideas and reality to seek for the future.

We have the right idea that the world is trying to unify itself in reality. And all these movements can not be denied to ask for any reality we are stepping into.

We must know who could yell the new world, a reality that makes itself with a world.

We have a choice; a new world vision may not be ignored under all these circumstances. And any possibility we can find a new world.

KURIDA INTERNATIONAL