Power may be the only justice we find in reality. I may be right. If we follow justice, we may lose ourselves.

We need all the tails of any games. They may only permit us the future.

Military and capital give us equality in any reality. The world has a decision called a plan. We are trying to avoid them and send the world with our visions called reality.

And we see there is a decision from above in the universe. We have all its uncertainties with the future.

The world has her collapse in the planes. So, we need to raise our world vision. That may be a proper effort for us to face any reality in the world.

Then how could we gather the world? The unify of the whole of Asia could be based on them all.

This is a way for us to reach a hope. We have a choice in the future.

Power may be the basis. We could expand any of our visions to reality. Who has a world is that who has power.

Above, we may seek a power game. In any history, power is the only decision we have.

Under all new circumstances, how could we find a new reality in the world? And as we insisted, conscience may be a law of the new world.

All these realities are expanding to all new relationships to the universe. We may know that any opportunities are given under its decision and actions.
