Any presence of theirs covers the whole world, and the world can't ask for their steps out of its presence.

Technology and life, as any growth or progress of all academics, may come from them to recreate the world in a new way.

All its capital power and any finance may cover the world with its roots in the West.

We may not ignore their presence if we want to see a global standard. These are the ways we should participate in the world.

Under any point of view of responsibility which the world asks itself to run the world, who takes any presence with it?

We can try this idea ourselves, which means we may take on the same responsibility to the world.

Any conscience of the West may exist. That is any reality the world holds up itself.

These are the new conversations from the East to the West.

We may know that equality must have the same basis and conditions to seek a new reality as the all-map of power politics.

This new conversation does not ask for conflict but seeks new possibilities. And we are all worth trying.

Conflict may ask for individual profit and benefit, so we may propose the same profit and benefit we may seek in a new world. These are any consensus of new diplomacy to share the world in the future.
