

That all people live the life they desire

KURODA International Consulting

Takeshi Kuroda

We may seek a future where we can find dreams or disappointment. All technology gives us a new vision that choice of the world provides us with different realities.

Forced to be a self comes opposition from freedom of life. If all people ask for the life that they desire. That must be from all political consensus.

In the past, we were forced labor. In the 20th century, we had a revolution like the Beatles and reached the 21st century.

This must be a social system change as we have IoT and new progress in all social fields in revolutionary changes. We have all new opportunities to build a new world.

A politic may design the new world. All scholars and bureaucrats can realize the creation of the world with the foundation of philosophy in their academic progress.

All these could be a base to step forward to the universe with any cooperation, and we try to create new possibilities.

This must be a promise to all people on earth.

As we can find any progress in any field of society that has a future that we may determine of which.

These are with new socialism and new creation of any societies. We have new technology and may ask for any use of academics.

We may imagine how the world would change if everyone asked for their desire for life.

This is only from the political consensus that we may rely on all new heroes.