

The Aim of western countries

KURODA International Consulting

Takeshi Kuroda

We have to see all aims of western countries. They have a plan, and that causes a new world.

Politicians must see them to ask for any step in international society and the future. Who leads the world and gives the world what we have to see.

Indisputably, there are two sides to these. We only have to see the truth.

Under any comparison of any realities, what can we see with the world? Power is a reality, and we have to see any tails of reality.

In the comparison of wits, the superior always wins the world.

All industries and military as society and livelihoods are giving all reality in the world. That gives the right decision and judgment of all realities. That means we can expect the future.

If we capture all truth, we can find a future. These prove that we can see the world and need information and analysis.

We may only escape from their aims. These are the only permission we can step into reality.

That is why we have only a choice divided in 3rd world.

And only permission we stand equal to the world is we need the same fundamentals.

If we ask for the answer, I will give you the truth. Do take all actions to open up any realities. Unless we have nothing.

Wise could find a way to the future. That means we need all talent. That gives our world and our futures.
