

The West's New Global Hegemony

March 6th, 2026

KURODA International Consulting LLC

Takeshi Kuroda

The balance of power in the world is such that the Western camp dominates it. And under all these realities, we are forced to make our decisions.

On the other hand, we can only find equal reality in Eastern roots. They are Asians who may stand equally in the world.

But under the governance of liberalism, all their justice may cover the world. And these are the visions we may stand equally to the world under our own justice.

These are the proposals for the unification of Asia. And we can see these are the only possibilities we may find in the future.

And the world is shifting to the next generation of progress, and these are the new technological civilizations we are moving towards.

There is no doubt that Europe will support the American mission. Finding a future in these new futures is the only option.

We may find that these are all we have in the world, and under world finance, massive capital is seeking possession of the world.

Under all these realities, we may seek our own security, which may be given to all nations. And these are the choices that we can only find for the future.

New world vision may gather all nations with their participation. And these are how we may find the way to the future.

These are the result of our dialogues. And we can see we have the possibility to find our world, not with their world.