

The bankruptcy of Japan and its effect on the World

Kuroda International Consulting

Takeshi Kuroda

As we see, the world is under the plan and seeking for new money system. Japan may not participate in Anglo-Saxon missions due to they are not white race.

How could we forecast the future under the bankruptcy of Japan? But we have to be prepared for the coming future.

The Western Camp should hold all core standards while trying to make a new world.

As they try to be wise, these are only under their plan. But we may attempt to imagine how the reflection expands to reality.

There must be a change in currency rate, and the trade environment must be changed. Their economy and industry must face all these new realities. The politicians must ask for further action.

We could see a new economic system, and we must know that world war 3rd may not be an illusion. So we see there are groups of economic groups we may wonder about.

And we see that international financial capital exists, and they have the decisions. All beings will say this is the end of the game.

All these must give a new world system as they seek new money and economic system in the world.

How could we expect all reality in Japan? They must seek their future under all these Anglo-Saxon missions.

These are the same with these pre-Nazi Germanys. And Germany has no choice but to follow these new orders.