

The choice of full-scale wars

KURODA International Consulting

Takeshi Kuroda

As we are facing to be prepared of a full-scale war. They may ask for all their decision. That is any preference of all ours.

The point is that they can respond to this. Here lies the new choice of dialogue. We have the most demand for these realities, and our proposition is the talk of choice for a world based on all nuclear forces.

This is the final answer from A Whole Asia to the World. We are standing equal to the world and appearing in our visions.

What can you find in this dialogue? We are trying to decide the world.

Our demand is equal cooperation with the Western camp. The apex of the two civilizations proposes a shared future.

These are our inevitable choices and proposals; the other is all-out war using nuclear forces.

And we can find a whole unification of the world. Our proposal may not be limited to full-scale wars.

We are trying to bet our future. The decision may be in the hand of theirs.
