

The choice of the world

KURODA International Consulting

Takeshi Kuroda

Under any agreement of all nations, we could propose a republic of the world to a new world.
Under the new government of the world, we are trying to seek a future.

All these are under agreement by all representatives of nations, as we are trying to seek a new world. We know that all new ages have space participation, and we are trying to build a new relationship with the universe.

All these are the new world framework that can give us a new future. We are trying to offer the unification of the world.

We could see that this is a choice of the world, even if we face any world realities.

All new technologies have a sight to the future, which causes us to make a choice.

Shifting to a new world system is based on building a new world. And we may propose that all these new worlds must have equal participation of all peoples.

New socialism as a basic income system guarantees basic life to all people.

If politics take all responsibility for all children, they could equally step into this new world.

A world for everyone is an ideal we may share of.

Mr. Walt Disney has a dream for the children, and all children have a dream in his world.

We may ask for permission to dream a world. And decisions and actions give them a world.

If we can find fairness in the world, we may ask for all solutions with all realities.

King has a decision with the world. That means all dice are in your hands.