The end of the history is the beginning of the future.

Under the rules of competition, the economy can't hold itself and is trying to collapse.

Any industry's highest technology and system seek a new world under its technology and systems. These are the economies that make up the core of the world.

With the economy's collapse, who may have permission to participate in the future? These are reset of any values in reality as all new requirements of the reality in the future.

These are the ideas of a great reset. There is a new world that is waiting for their future.

There is a recreation of the world under the new technology and systems. We are shifting to the future that holds all new technology and systems under a free economic system.

These are predictions of a change in reality based on new values in the future. The collapse of existing reality is the collapse of the economy.

The future is under construction by new ideas.

Destruction and creation are the teachings of Shiva. In these, we should carry out all renewal in the new reality.

We need a new map of our reality, even its diplomacy. Gathering human resources, we are trying to rebuild all realities under any progress. We need to make a further effort with those.

Change is a chance we may seek all our dreams. Politics determine them in reality and the future.
