As we have any reality, we may calculate them under the description of the above title.

Throughout history, the pursuit of power has been a universal trait. The powerful seek to dominate the world, a pattern that repeats across all civilizations.

Despite the historical pattern of the weak being victimized, there is a compelling vision-a world where all individuals, regardless of their status, can find acceptance and equality.

The reality of the logic of the strong is that the weak are constantly exploited. Therefore, the principle of equality gives all beings a right to participate in the future.

These are proposals for a new future in which fairness is the rule.

The world's history is filled with ages of wars, but all these are caused by the egos of the powerful.

Under all these circumstances, all the weak have lost their hopes and dreams. So, the birth of the USA is an evolutionary change since they have their justice.

We should consider the right attitude of all politicians responsible for the new world and future.

If one fails in the future, it must be a responsibility that must be blamed on politics. That means new socialism may ask for responsibility from all people.

We have all new technology, with its use in society and life, under any acceptance of freedom by liberalism.

We have a choice, which is the future itself. This is an understanding of all politics.
