This is the reality we have had with the world since history began. We are trying to accept it.

These games are actual, and they have rules. If we calculate all of history, these are the reality of history, which contains all wars.

These are any permission to see all justice, and we have found all truth or lies.

There are all kinds of curiosity, but these are the truths that have given the world its reality since history began.

So we never are permitted to bet on defeat, but the victory of itself. And we have to work for ourselves all in the future.

Under all calculations of this reality, we were trying to be wise to face any realities of the world.

As we tried to consult the world, you have the right judgment against us with all our proposals.

We now find that reality only gains laws and rules. And these are the only reality we can work for it,

The winner takes all the pies. And the loser lost all. So, all politics must follow victory.

But you may find our differences; we insist on making victory, not following them.

If these are the world's laws, we need to be wise and not follow any fake news from Langley, even if it is directed by them.

Be independent and make a world. These are the habits of courage that allow us to seek the future.
